Topic:

Social Justice and Democracy

Description:

"Democracy is the rule of law, it is representation, freedom of speech, media freedom, fight against discrimination, respect for privacy and human dignity. But above all democracy is a process, in constant evolution, and which is for all of us to advance, constantly." 26 Years into a democratic South Africa, the questions are: Whether we still have a democracy? What defines a democracy in South Africa? What kind of democracy is envisaged in our constitution? What is the capacity of a democratic dispensation for achieving social justice?
